

Policy on Students Studying Leaving Certificate Subjects with a Coursework Component Outside of Coláiste na Toirbhirte School (Revised in line with SEC Circular S79/25 – Coursework Rules and Procedures 2025/2026) – November 2025

Coláiste na Toirbhirte recognises that, on occasion, a student may wish to study an additional Leaving Certificate subject outside of the School's own timetable provision. The School supports students in pursuing such opportunities where feasible and appropriate.

However, in accordance with the regulations of the State Examinations Commission (SEC), specific conditions apply to any subject that includes a coursework, project, practical or Additional Assessment Component (AAC).

The SEC Coursework Rules and Procedures 2025/2026 set out the national requirements governing the delivery, supervision and authentication of coursework for State Examinations. These Rules and Procedures are available to view on our website.

These procedures ensure the authenticity of student work and uphold inter-candidate equity. The SEC updates and republishes these Rules and Procedures annually and the School is required to follow the current version in place for the relevant examination cycle.

We wish all our students well with their subjects and coursework components.
